Harbour lights report

The red lantern marks the north jetty, the blue lantern the fishing pier and the green lantern the channel into the inner basin.

Night watch

Keepers log a bright orange flare when a boat is overdue, a purple flag when the tide table changes and plain black ink for everything else.

Entries are copied from the harbour office ledger every Friday.

A whole paragraph in raspberry ink continues here for a second line so that the colour has to survive a line break in the output document without leaking into the paragraph that follows it.

Closing remark in the default colour.
